

SocHx: Danielle's Rx

➡ Improve Social History by incorporating environmental proximity into patient notes as a standard practice for all clinicians

Why? Honoring Danielle Bailey Lash's Vision

What? Ask this simple question, record patient response

“What is your proximity to any polluting industrial facility?”

- Location: none, 0-3 miles, 3-6 miles, or 6-9 miles
- Concern: Residence, Workplace, or School
- Type: Waste storage site, Production / Processing facility, or Extraction / Piping infrastructure (note material, air/water/other)

Where? In all healthcare professionals' encounters with patients, in the admission note, or in the post encounter note (PEN). Include in the social history (SocHx) portion of patient record (SOAP: Subjective-Objective-Assessment-Plan).

How? Phased public goals

- Step 1: voluntary sign-on by healthcare professionals
- Step 2: hospital systems adopt standards
- Step 3: statewide health policy, eventually a national practice; confidential and automated medical record extraction of data sets to broadly improve patient care

Confirm your participation — as a healthcare professional, patient advocate, or to help organize next steps regionally or statewide, marie@itisinyou.org, 919.607.5533.
